COMPANY G WINNER

Rival Basket-ball Team Defeated by 20 to 15.

CONTEST PROVES EXCITING

Company H Gets Busy in Second Period and Plays Rings Around Opponents, but Are Unable to Pull Down the Big Lead Obtained in the First Part of the Game.

MILITARY LEAGUE STANDING.

Company G, of the District Military League, defeated Company H in one of the best played and most exciting basketball games of the season in the National Guard gymnasium last night, by the close score of 20 to 15.

The winners started off at a mile-a-minute pace, and totaled up a 14 to 5 score at the end of the first half. Company H could not get their teamwork down until the second half, when they came back with a vengeance, landing a 10 to 6 score, but the big lead the winners got in the first half was too much for them to overcome.

Company G started to score soon after the whistle blew, and basketball the ball seven times from the field to the H quintets two and one on a free trial. Furnage and Dennis, the two backs of Company G, played a fine game.

In the second half Company H turned the tables and scored more points than their opponents, but it was all in vain. They got their teamwork down to perfection in this half and were catching the winners when the game closed.

Evard, Goucher, and Maloney were the star goal shooters for the winners, while C. Keane and McGrath were always in the limelight for Company H.

Line-up and summary:

Company G. Positions. Company H.
McDonald, left guard. McGrath, right guard.
Maloney, right half back. Wilson, full back.
Goals from free—Goucher (2), Evard (2), McGrath (3), Keane (3), Clements (2), Wilson (1). Referee—Mr. Sayer. Time—Mr. Windsor. Score—Mr. J. C. Dennis.

The Georgetown preps will be well represented in the Federal games. Manager McMullen has registered nearly twenty men, and he is sending in entries for all of them in the various events.

In the 50-yard novice will be Golden, Larralde, Fahey, J. McLaughlin, Hanna, Galligan, Baumer, Mathison, and Trumbull. In the 100-yard novice are entered Capt. The relay team will be composed of the following men: Capt. Dahill, Charles McLaughlin, Langmuir, Heiskell, Wade, Mathison, and Vaneman.

As yet the embryos have not been matched up with any school in a relay race, but probably Western or Business will be their opponents.

BASEBALL MEN REPORT.

Seven Georgetown Candidates Out for Indoor Practice.

The Georgetown batteries for the varsity baseball nine did not start their indoor practice yesterday afternoon as scheduled because the indoor quarters were not quite finished. The unusual early start this year forbids the use of the running track, which, in the past, has been utilized for this purpose, and as the gymnasium is taken up with classes, the old dormitory in the north building was obtained.

This is amply large for the pitchers and catchers and makes a first rate training quarter. It was thought that the fixtures and other obstructions would be moved yesterday and a back stop erected, but at the last moment Brown had to notify the candidates of conditions.

Notwithstanding this, several men were on hand and got in a little work. Among them were Barrett, Geis, and Thompson from the law school. Thompson played at first and pitched for St. John's.

Candidates for varsity positions will report this afternoon, as Manager Brown will have everything in readiness.

Corcoran vs. Fort Meyer.

The Corcoran Cadets, leaders of the Military League, will meet the fast Fort Meyer basketball team in the former's gymnasium to-night. A close game should result.

Line-up of the Corcorans: Hutton, r. f.; Cuvillier (captain), l. f.; McDonald, c.; Rose, r. b.; Zier, l. b.

Challenges Joe Turner.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Lynchburg, Va., Feb. 9.—Disputing the claim of Joe Turner, the Washington middle-weight wrestler, to the claim of Southern champion, Henry Otto, of Cleveland, Ohio, wants to get a match here with the Washington grappler. Otto disputes Turner's claim and wants to show his superiority over him on the mat for a side bet, and the winner to take the receipts.

SPORTING SIDELIGHTS

By BILL BAILEY.

Another version of the Kling question: Can Johnny come back? Yes, if the national commission and Cubs will allow it.

Otis Clymer, the outfielder released by Joe Cantillon to Minneapolis last August, says he can't see the figures on the pay check offered him by the latter club with a microscope and threatens to hold out.

Clymer is a crack clay-pigeon shot in addition to being a ball player.

Our old friend, Mal. Kittredge, has been selected to coach the Harvard battery candidates this spring. If memory serves us right, Kit is a vegetarian. The old boy can snap his fingers at the beef trust these days.

Brother Nie, in the New York Globe, slips over the following: "The Washington papers are devoting considerable space to what Kid Elberfeld thinks of Jimmy McAleer. About July 15, if the Kid follows precedent, what he thinks of his manager won't be fit to print."

After thinking it all over, we have come to the conclusion that the proposed new football rules changes are a study, not a game.

Cy Macdonald and Dutch Sterzer are frequently seen together these days. Macdonald has signed with the Albany (N. Y.) club.

"Those fences are awfully high in the New York State League," said Sterzer to Big Cy, trying to get his goat. "They can't come too high for me," replied Cy. "I can go back to Winchester if I don't make good."

Keough, in the Chicago Tribune, says: "It would be in very bad taste to make the assertion that Johnny Kling has been sufficiently punished for his flagrant delinquency by one year's confinement in Kansas City, for really Kansas City, in a great many respects, is a right nice place and not at all hard to take when one is in right and prospering in business. True, it is in Missouri and next door to Kansas. It likewise is true that it gets sweeter than Dick's hatband in the summer and is precipitous and rugged as to profile, but one can get almost all one wants of almost everything there. There are a great many fine people in Kansas City, indeed there are."

So Jim Flynn won a decision over Sam Langford. It doesn't sound right, and some people are saying that Langford has broken the golden rule at last. We will not believe that Flynn is good enough to get a decision over Langford unless the negro took things easy.

OFF SEASON BASEBALL.

Philadelphia, St. Louis, and Cincinnati are the National League cities that have never had a pennant.

Bradley, the big first sacker of the Boston Americans, from Worcester, is a vocalist, and is under contract to hit the high notes until March 5.

The Eastern Leaguers will open their season on April 21 as follows: Buffalo at Baltimore, Toronto at Providence, Montreal at Jersey City, and Rochester at Newark.

Tommy Leach, the Cleveland boy playing outfield for the world's champion Pirates, is the greatest of all ball players, past or present, in the humble opinion of Dodgers this summer. He is particularly sweet on Eddie Lemoor.

It is said that Dode Criss, the star pinch hitter of the American League, may be sent to Louisville to be taught first base playing. Dode should make a peach at first, as he is built about right, and oh! what a hitter!

Manager Dunn, of the Baltimore Eastern League, is negotiating for the services of Outfielder Howard, of the Lowell Club. Howard is a good sticker and also possesses speed in covering the veit and burning up the base lines.

At Orin may join the Buffalo Eastern Leaguers before the season opens. The genial pitcher for the New York Yankees would like to pitch for Billy Smith, and as he is of little use to the Gotham team, Manager Stallings may consent to turn him over to the Bisons.

In order to secure their new material, the Cleveland owners did business with teams in twelve different leagues—American Association, Three I, Virginia, O. and P., South Atlantic, Eastern Carolina, Texas, Pacific Coast, Northwestern, Ohio State, Central, and South Michigan.

Hamilton Hyatt, Pirates' famous pinch hitter, thinks he has the hardest job in the baseball business. The official National League records show that Hyatt took part in forty-nine games last season, and after the number in the record book is an asterisk calling attention to a foot note which says: "Was substitute batsman in forty games."

Boston stands next to Chicago, with eight National League championships and two American League triumphs to its credit. The Boston Americans won the pennant in 1903, when they also defeated the Pirates in a world's championship series in the fall, and in 1904, when a post-season series was played. The Boston Nationals landed first in 1877, 1878, 1883, 1891, 1892, 1893, 1897, and 1898.

Spalding's Almanac Out.

Spalding's official athletic almanac for 1910 records many interesting items in connection with amateur athletic records. Without reference to this book, but few would know that the earliest recorded amateur record for the late William E. Curtis, for lifting 3,229 pounds with harness, made in 1888.

Another record which has stood on the books for thirty-five years is that of H. H. Seelye, of Amherst, sixty-five times for pulling the body up by both arms.

The Spalding Almanac makes clear many disputed points on athletic matters.

Terry McGovern Cured.

New York, Feb. 9.—Pronounced thoroughly cured by the physicians who have had him in charge for the past eight months, Terry McGovern was released from the sanatorium at Central Islip, Long Island, yesterday. The doctors say there is no reason why his old trouble should ever return if he leads the simple life.

ALL HOLD PIMLICO CHEAPLY

New York Racing Men Intend to Slight Baltimore Track.

Turf Patrons Commend Jockey Club for Willingness to Accept Spring Dates.

New York, Feb. 9.—Turf patrons who have advocated the full quota of dates on the New York tracks are ready to commend Aqueduct and Jamaica for their willingness to go ahead with the usual spring meetings regardless of a conflict with Pimlico. As a matter of fact, few believe that Pimlico will cut much of a figure in the Eastern racing game this year, as New Yorkers will be able to save railroad fares and hotel bills by attending the sport in Queens County.

The stakes and purses to be hung up for competition at Aqueduct and Jamaica will be more attractive than the ones offered by the Maryland track, which means that many owners and trainers who went to Baltimore last spring will remain here.

Whether the tracks will make any money or not this year remains to be seen. They must depend entirely upon the patronage of the public, as no other revenues aside from gate receipts are possible. If the average daily attendance amounts to 3,000 paid admissions there may be some small profits, but it is hardly probable this average can be maintained throughout the entire season.

The racing itself bids fair to be more attractive than last year, however, which probably means increased public interest, and if the rights of individuals to bet among themselves are not interfered with there will be reasonably plain sailing.

The Jockey Club has determined to make a more persistent fight to keep racing alive, and horsemen are praising the turf solons for their pluck.

HARD BLOW TO CENTRAL; MUST RELINQUISH CUP

Baltimore City College to Be Awarded G. W. U. Scholastic Trophy on Technicality—Other Sports.

By WILLIAM PEET.

There is going to be a hard wall from the athletes of Central High School when it becomes known in a day or two that the handsome silver cup trophy won by the O. streeters in competition in the George Washington meet Saturday night will have to be turned over to the Baltimore City College, of Baltimore.

Central won the cup, as everybody supposed, by scoring twenty-four points, Baltimore City College came next with sixteen, but one event advertised to be held did not take place, the standing high jump, and the only three entries in this event were from Baltimore City College.

The registration committee of the South Atlantic A. A. U. has been asked to investigate and have already started to probe.

Perhaps the most unfortunate part of the whole affair is that Principal Emory, of Central High School, was the official referee Saturday night, and Mr. Wilson will be asked by the registration committee to make a decision, which means that he will award the Baltimore City College nine points for first, second, and third places in the standing high jump event, so this will boost the City College total to twenty-five points and entitle them to the cup by the narrow margin of one point.

The mix-up seems to be due to an error by those in charge of printing the programme for the meet, as the standing high jump did not appear on the lists, although it was advertised in the newspapers and also printed on the entry blank.

Referee Wilson had a talk with President Wiber yesterday and said that the Baltimore athletes came to him during the meet and wanted to know when the standing high jump would be pulled off, to which he replied "there is no such event on the programme." "It was on the entry blank," one of them replied, "and we paid our admission fee, and sent in our blanks. We shall make a formal protest to the A. A. U."

Mr. Wilson told Dr. Wiber that if the fact were investigated and it was shown that the claims of the Baltimoreans were correct, there would be nothing for him to do but render a decision in their favor and turn over the cup.

Manager Eaton, of the George Washington games, is the unfortunate victim of circumstances. He supposed everything was all right, but when the time came for the meet, and the programme made its appearance, this event was missing.

The claims of Baltimore City College are perfectly justifiable. They entered three men in the regular way, and the event should have been held. Fortunately for them, there were no other entries, so there can be no dispute about the division of points, five for first place, three for second, and one for third.

Chairman Beckett, of the registration committee, when seen last night, said that the omission of the standing high jump event in the George Washington

Following is a bit of poetry from Sir Mercer's interesting baseball column in the New York Globe:

DRAWING NEARER.
You wonder what's come over me;
My source of joy you cannot guess;
My fan all week has been the same;
A perfect case, you must confess;
I'm different than I was a few
Short weeks ago; my temper flares
Less lately, I'm never blue—
They'll soon be playing practice games.

It snows sometimes and winds howl cold;
It's sometimes winter, that's a fact;
But still, my boys are manifold;
My nights disturbed by tangled dreams;
The world, so long devoid of song,
Now with sweet music fairly thrums;
The spring bird is under way;
Ere long the best of bird alarms,
That's why I sing the living day,
They'll soon be playing practice games.
